About Me

I had been crate training, he goes into his crate with a treat. He has had no accidents inside the house he often will stand by the screen door when he wants to go out. He s not much of a barker at all. He gets his medication at 9:30 before he goes to bed. He also loves company, he follows you and flops down for a nap where ever you are. He loves to sun bathe, and you have to remind him to move out of the sun. He eats twice a day, but seems to try and hide his food if someone isn't by him (this is probably from his previous home). He doesn't care for toys too much, but loves treats. Freeze dried salmon was his...
